The Child Impersonator.

Mrs. Maude Reeder Lyons, the Child Impersonator, delightfully entertained a fair-sized audience at the Auditorium Thursday night.

Mrs. Lyons is an artist, in her line, of great ability and her impersonation, enunciation and gesticulation of a little girl was very realistic. She held the audience wonderfully and swayed them from laughter to tears. Mrs. Lyons is a charming entertainer, prettily gowned and has a pleasing personality, and should she return to Hondo the people will give her a hearty welcome.

Misses Dorothy Harris and Katie Saathoff, Hondo's talented young musicians, added much to the evening's entertainment with choice selections on the piano and violin, and Miss Ruby Locklin sang a beautiful solo in her usual sweet and artistic manner.

The entertainment was given under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church and that worthy cause realized a nice sum therefrom.

A Fine Rain.

A fine rain, amounting to 1.30 inches, fell here about five-thirty o'clock Monday afternoon. The rain was sufficient to effectually settle the dust and put out some stock water. While it rained in many other places, the precipitation was not general or uniform and amounted practically to none a few miles west and south from Hondo.

A little hail and some wind from the north accompanied the rain and it has been clear and cool since.

Notice.

I will sell the G. W. Hale stock of new and second-hand hardware and furniture at public auction to the highest bidder on Saturday, Oct. 24th. Don't miss it. There will be some bargains. Come early and stay late.

W. R. Cox, Assignee.

Sabinal To Have Triple Wedding.

Sabinal is soon to have a triple wedding if it has not already been solemnized.

A gentleman was here last week and took home with him three marriage licenses which will make as many couples happy and furnish something unique in nuptial ceremonies.

The contracting couples are Mr. E. Cornelius Pierce and Miss Lillie May Goforth, Mr. J. Prince O. Wood Jr. and Miss Annie Taylor Goforth, and Mr. Alonzo H. Rushing and Miss Beulah L. Goforth.

Mr. Pierce formerly resided at Castroville and has many friends among our readers who will join us in extending congratulations and best wishes to him and his happy associates in this triple affair.

Notice.

The ladies of the Catholic church at D'Hanis will give a dinner and supper for the benefit of the new church next Sunday, Oct. 18th, at Carle's warehouse.

Come and enjoy a fine Sunday dinner and supper and at the same time help a worthy cause.

MORE TROUBLE FOR THE MEDINA FIRMS

Three Creditors Seek to Institute Proceedings in Bankruptcy
Against Irrigation People

THIRD STEP IN THE FIGHT

Alleging that the San Antonio Land & Irrigation Company and the Medina Irrigation Company are both insolvent corporations, three petitioning creditors have instituted proceedings in the federal court to force both companies into involuntary bankruptcy. The petitioning creditors are J. C. Gallardo, Albert Neniwich and August Neuman, all three, as represented in the petition, being owners of land that "abuts on or upon which runs the Medina river."

In accordance with the petitioners' plea in the petition, Deputy United States Marshal John L. Dibrell Wednesday afternoon served a subpoena on F. C. Gross, representing the Medina Valley Irrigation Company, and on William Aubrey, representing the San Antonio Land & Irrigation Company.

INDEBTEDNESS IS ALLEGED.

In the petition of the three creditors it is alleged in the instances of both the San Antonio Land & Irrigation Company and the Medina Valley Irrigation Company that said corporations each owe debts to the amount of $1000, and that petitioners are creditors of the corporations, having provable claims amounting in excess of the value of securities held by them to the sum of more than $500.

The nature and amount of the petitioners' claims are: "For conversion heretofore of rights in and to the waters of the Medina river and belonging to each petitioner by reason of his ownership of certain lands, all the land owned by each petitioner in Bexar county that abuts on or upon which runs said river."

"It is further represented that the corporations are insolvent and that within four months next preceding the date of this petition the said corporation committed the act of bankruptcy in this: That about July 31, 1914 because of insolvency of the corporations, a trustee and thereafter a receiver was put in charge of their properties under the laws of the state and the United States."

The petitioners are represented by Attorney C. L. Bass.

PROCEEDINGS WERE EXPECTED.

Bankruptcy proceedings in the cases of the two companies have been expected ever since petitioners went into both the federal and the district court asking for the appointment of receivers for the concerns. In fact, no secret was made of the proposition that to maintain the jurisdiction of the federal court it might be necessary to institute bankruptcy proceedings in that court, although, as late as two days ago, the statement was made that such proceedings probably would be brought by the Empire Trust Company of New York, a concern which is trustee for the bondholders for the San Antonio Land & Irrigation Company.

The case as it now stands in court gives a three-cornered controversy. On the one hand, what are said to be a majority of the larger owners went into the federal court and had Floyd McGowan named as receiver. Prior to that, what were claimed to be a minority appealed to District Judge R. B. Minor for the appointment of a receiver, but Judge Minor's appointment was made subsequent to that of the federal court. Judge S. J. Brooks was appointed by him. In the district court, various owners of land abutting on Medina lake and the canal ways appeared and joined causes, to a certain extent, with the applicants for receiver. Now, the various land owners, with the intention, as stated, to forestall bankruptcy proceedings in New York, have filed involuntary bankruptcy pleadings in the federal court in Texas.—The San Antonio Light.

Card of Thanks.

We take this means of extending our heartfelt thanks to our neighbors and friends for their kind assistance in time of need and their many expressions of sympathy for us in our grief over the death of our beloved husband and father.

Respectfully,
MRS. J. W. HOLLAWAY
AND CHILDREN.

WILL BUILD BRIDGE OVER HONDO CREEK

Commissioners' Court Awards
the Contract to an Austin Firm, Costing $5,500.00

AT THE BURNETT CROSSING

Commissioners' Court met here last Monday in special session, all members being present.

Bridge plans and bids for a bridge at the Tally Burnett crossing of Hondo creek on the Hondo City, Biry and Devine road, were opened, as follows:

Newton & Co., Weatherford, Texas, suspension bridge, 200-foot span, etc., $7,485.00.

Alamo Construction Co., San Antonio, Texas, Plan A, 130 feet and two 55-foot spans, $5,975.00. Plan B, $5,850. Plan C, $4,995.

Austin Bros., Dallas, Texas, Plan A, 185-foot steel, $6,799.00. Plan B, 185-foot joists, $6,300.00, $6,000.00. Plan C, $4,878.00.

Uneeda Bridge Co., Austin, Texas, J. D. Cox, President, Plan A, 150-foot span, steel joists, $6,188.00; wood joists, $5,500.00; wood trestle, $5,350.00.

After due consideration, comparison, etc., the contract was awarded to the Uneeda Bridge Co. of Austin, for a 180-foot steel camel-back span, on concrete piers and 100-foot approach on steel bents, 16-foot roadway, wood joists, for $5,500.00, and contract entered into to complete bridge by March 15, 1915.

The bridge is to be paid for out of the present bridge tax of 3c, without any increase in said tax. The citizens donated $1,000 towards building said bridge.

The Commissioners' Court went to Lacoste Wednesday to inspect the new concrete lock-up or jail and accepted same for Medina county. The County paid $200 towards building the same and the citizens of Lacoste making up the difference of about $150.

Died.

Death invaded the precincts of our little city and claimed as his victim one of its most universally popular men. J. W. Hollaway, the friend to all, high or low, rich or poor, died very suddenly at his home on Carle Ave. about 6:30 o'clock P. M. Saturday, October 10, 1914.

Mr. Hollaway had been up attending to business about his gin as usual all day Saturday. Late in the afternoon, feeling a little sick and weak, he went home, took a bath, ate a lunch and sat down on the gallery to rest. In a short time, he complained of feeling sick and went into his room to lie down and in a few minutes was dead. He had been a sufferer from rheumatism for several years and it is presumed this fell disease attacked his heart causing his sudden demise.

The remains were laid to rest in the new cemetery at five o'clock Sunday afternoon. Rev. W. L. Marlin, pastor of the Hondo Baptist church, conducted the funeral service in a most touching manner. One of the largest crowds ever assembled at a funeral in Hondo was present to show its last respects to the departed, and there were many beautiful floral offerings placed on his last resting place.

Mr. Hollaway was born July 19, 1861, and was therefore, 53 years, 2 months and 21 days of age at the time of his demise. He was married in early life and was the father of thirteen children, ten of whom, with their mother, survive him. The living children are five boys and five girls. Two boys and one girl are dead. He is also survived by two half sisters, Mesdames Jim and Wm. Burgin of Yancey.

The deceased was of the Primitive Baptist faith though not a member of any church organization. He lived a religion of practical charity which reached all conditions and classes of people when in need; and the tribute of tears, paid by all, white, Mexican, and colored, who stood as common mourners around his silent bier, attested, more eloquently than word of tongue or pen, the real worth of the man whom we shall see no more among us and whose presence will be missed.

To the bereaved family and relatives the Anvil Herald extends its sincerest sympathy.

Things To Forget.

If you see a tall fellow ahead of a crowd.
A leader of men, marching fearless and proud.
And you know of a tale whose mere telling aloud.
Would cause his proud head to in anguish be bowed.
It's a pretty good plan to forget it.
If you know of a skeleton hidden away in a closet, and guarded and kept from the day
In the dark, and whose showing whose sudden display.
Would cause grief and sorrow and life-long dismay.
It's a pretty good plan to forget it.
If you know of a thing that will darken the joy
Of a man or a woman, a girl or a boy.
That will wipe out a smile or the least way annoy
A fellow or cause any gladness to cloy.
It's a pretty good plan to forget it.

MARRIAGE is necessary to teach some men that it is a waste of time to argue with a woman. The West Texas Magazine.

AN oat field where the hens can range on it during the winter months will supply them with the needed green feed and they in turn will keep the family table supplied with eggs and the family purse with pin-money. Try it.

NEWS from the coast towns is to the effect that ladies' bathing suits are sold by the yard. They range from a dollar and a half to four dollars per suit according to the amount of cloth in them. The four dollar ones are a drug on the market.—The West Texas Magazine.

THE proposed Texas Bank bill has died a-borning. Fathered by an overweening desire for political advancement and conceived in a hysterical fright over a financial crisis that will have passed before the measure could have been put into operation, it is well that it is so. The Legislature has done well in going slow!

THE Legislature has cost the state several hundred thousand dollars and has given the country only an experimental warehouse law that must become useless if it accomplishes its purpose and a costly failure if it does not. The same money spent in building a cotton factory would have been a permanent and a useful investment.

W. P. LANE, the tight-wad mannerless boor, who by accident has played a prominent part in Texas politics for the past four years, has lost his contest against Jeff McLemore for the nomination for Congressman-at-Large and can now elink back to the low level whence he seems to have gotten his lack of good manners—a Ft. Worth nigger pool hall.

THE fine rains over the country this week have put the soil in fine condition for plowing and it is now in order to plant small grain, fall gardens, turnip patches, etc. The farmer who plants a crop of small grain will have winter pasture for his stock and will be enabled to market his saving in corn and other feed-stuffs at the high prices that must prevail next spring. Quit pining over the disaster to the cotton crop and get busy on utilizing the vast resources that lie at your command and all will be well.

Special Cotton Sales.

Discussing the movement recently put into effect by the leading society women of Washington, including the wives of Cabinet officials, to increase the use of cotton goods and add to the marketing of cotton as an aid to the South, Traffic Manager Dunlap of the Sunset-Central Lines said yesterday, that the move was one in the right direction.

"The women of this country are nearly always sound in their arguments as affecting any great question, and this one covering the use of cotton clothing, is an excellent one and one that should appeal with some force to everybody. The suggestion of the Washington women is that the stores handling wearing apparel throughout the country should make an effort to stimulate increased consumption of cotton goods, by putting on special sales of cotton fabrics and making a feature of this in their every-day operations.

"Cotton is now, and has always been, manufactured in such wonderful variety that only the most carping of women could fail to find a delightful substitute for some of the more expensive fabrics in daily use. Cotton goods is not necessarily cheap, either in appearance or in price. Many of the looms put out really wonderful weaves and of such texture and beauty that they easily compete with silk and the fine woollens, yet with the additional advantage, as a rule, of being lower in price.

"The interests of the South demand a better price for cotton staples, and one way to accomplish this is by creating a greater and more constant demand for cotton goods of a high grade. I hope our merchants in Texas will take the view suggested by the Washington women and hold special sales of cotton fabrics, stimulating interest by variety of styles and designs."—Houston Post.

THE European war drags wearily on with its fearful waste of lives and property. It is a sad commentary upon the civilization of Western Europe that her statesmen can not foresee—or seeing have not the wisdom to avoid—the danger of so exhausting themselves in a war with each other as to make all of that country an easy prey to the hordes of half-civilized Slavs now mobilizing in Eastern Europe and Northern Asia. Is it possible that the present generation may witness the grandeur of Western Europe swept away by vandals from the east in a manner parallel to that which destroyed Rome and made her glory only a memory? History repeats itself.

THERE are lots of big men in every community who are among the smallest citizens.—The West Texas Magazine.

Establishing A Trade Center.

There are two prime essentials to any town's becoming a popular trading center—good roads and good markets.

The former is essential that the people of the rural districts may be able to reach the latter in the shortest possible time, with the least possible wear and tear on vehicles and teams and the minimum damage to the products to be transported over the road.

The latter is essential to the end that the producer always has a ready market for his products and at prices that afford him a reasonable profit over and above the cost of their production.

Next to these comes the assortments carried in stock by the dealers in the town and the prices at which such goods are offered for sale.

It is essential for the merchants of a town, if they wish to hold the trade, to anticipate as near as possible the needs of their customers and be ready to supply them at prices that afford them such a reasonable margin of profit as will leave no temptation to others to cut below and will of themselves convince the most suspicious buyer that he is being fairly dealt with.

These are points that bear constant watching on the part of the merchants of every town and in which all should co-operate.

If a town has looked after the first essential—good roads,—establishes abroad a reputation for being a good market for all kinds of produce, and convinces—by delivering the goods—that it sells dependable merchandise at reasonable prices its position as a good trading point will be established upon a safe and secure basis that no outside competition can ever shake.

The merchants of this town, whose advertisements you find in the columns of this paper, are laboring to this end.

Theirs is a co-operative spirit which merits your patronage as a matter of reciprocity as well as a matter of good business.

THE plowing season is now at hand and the work should be pushed as rapidly as possible to the end that as much of the vegetation now on the land as possible may be plowed under while it is yet green as it will the more readily decay, thereby mellowing the soil and the better preserving moisture from the rains that fall upon it during the winter months. If land that is beginning to show deterioration in fertility was sown in cow-peas in the early summer and the vines plowed under while green the increased yield the next year on such land would astonish the uninitiated. In the absence of such crops, the next best thing is to plow under such vegetation as the land contains. Another point to be observed is to so direct the furrows as to make them conserve rather than sub-drain the land of its moisture—that is, keep them as near on a level as the nature of the land will permit. If plowed this way now and broken as deep as the nature of the soil justifies a few winter rains will assure a next year's crop.

We find this great precept often repeated in Plato, "Do thine own work and know thyself"; of which two parts, both the one and the other, generally comprehend our whole duty, and consequently do each of them complicate and involve the other; for he who will do his own work aright, will find that his first lesson is to know himself; and he who rightly understands himself will never mistake another man's work for his own.—Montaigne.

MANY a man puts his heart in his work and then neglects to put his hands in.—The West Texas Magazine.

Interurban Work is Being Urged.

Construction of an interurban line to extend between Lacoste, twenty-five miles west of San Antonio on the Sunset division of the Southern Pacific, and the Medina dam will be begun within the next three or four weeks if plans being urged by the people of Castroville are successful. In this event, it will be possible to go between San Antonio and the Medina dam by the latter part of next summer.

Citizens of Castroville, Lacoste, Riomedina and Red Wing have raised a bonus of about $35,000 to aid in the construction of an interurban line to extend between San Antonio and the Medina dam via San Jose, Kirk, Lacoste, Castroville and the other points named. Because of conditions in the financial market it has been impossible thus far to finance the construction of this line and those contributing to the bonus propose to give it if the line is built between Lacoste and the dam. They wish to increase the bonus somewhat and a committee, consisting of Joseph Courand, Louis Burrell, Louis Tschirhardt and Louis Mangold, all business men of Castroville, have been canvassing the jobbing and manufacturing interests in San Antonio to obtain contributions to it. During last Friday and Saturday they increased the bonus in San Antonio between $4,000 and $5,000.

The total cost of construction between Lacoste and the Medina dam will be more $100,000, but Mr. Miller and Mr. Foster of the Texas Construction Company believe it will be possible to finance this proposition with a bonus of between $40,000 and $50,000. The people of Castroville and other towns of the railroad want interurban connection with the railroad and are willing to wait until later for through interurban connection with San Antonio. If this line is constructed the charter of the company will be amended so that it will be made a road for both passengers and freight, in which case it would come under the jurisdiction of the Texas Railroad Commission.—San Antonio Express.

NO REASON FOR IT.

You Are Shown A Way Out.

There can be no reason why any reader of this who suffers the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the pains and dangers of kidney ills will fail to heed the word of a resident of this locality who has found relief. The following is convincing proof.

J. M. McWhorter, postmaster and general merchant, Benton, Texas, says: "I know that Doan's Kidney Pills are a good, reliable remedy and I give these few words of praise so that the greatest number of people may know how good they are. I had a long standing attack of lumbago, brought on by cold. Often I had to lean in a bent over position to ease the pain across the small of my back. I also had some trouble with the action of my kidneys. I had been told to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and I got a box. They relieved me right away. I can certainly recommend this remedy to those suffering from kidney complaint."

COULD SCARCELY WALK ABOUT

And For Three Summers Mrs. Vincent Was Unable to Attend to Any of Her Housework.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Walter Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst."

I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework.

I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides and when one of those weak, sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down, until it wore off.

I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it.

After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles relieved me entirely.

I fattened up, and grew so much stronger in three months, I felt like another person altogether."

Cardui is purely vegetable and gentle-acting. Its ingredients have a mild, tonic effect, on the womanly constitution.

Cardui makes for increased strength, improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, sallown cheeks, fresh and rosy.

Cardui has helped more than a million weak women, during the past 50 years. It will surely do for you, what it has done for them. Try Cardui today.

taste like candy. They are soothing and very easy in action. They do not cause griping, nausea, purging or excessive looseness. They tend to tone and strengthen intestinal nerves and muscles. They promptly relieve constipation, and help to permanently overcome it.

Rexall Orderlies promote better spirits and better health. In all of these things they are vastly superior to old-fashioned, harsh salts and other purgatives, which are not only unpleasant to take but which usually leave the bowels in worse condition than before. ## CONSUMPTION TAKES 350 PEOPLE DAILY

Over 350 people succumb to consumption every day in the United States. Science proves that the germs only thrive when the system is weakened from colds or sickness, overwork, confining duties or when general weakness exists. The best physicians point out that during changing seasons the blood should be made rich and pure and active by taking Scott's Emulsion after meals. The cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion warms the body by enriching the blood; it peculiarly strengthens the lungs and throat, while it rebuilds the resistive forces of the body to avoid colds and prevent consumption. If you work indoors, tire easily, feel languid or nervous, Scott's Emulsion is the most strengthening food-medicine known. It is totally free from alcohol or any stupefying drug. Avoid substitutes.

14-42 Scott & Downe, Bloomfield, N. J.

Greatness.

Some are born to greatness, some achieve it—So says Bill Shakespeare, and we believe it; But one might add to his moralizing That some grow great by advertising. —October Lippincott's.

The Magic Washing Stick.

"The Magic Washing Stick is just fine. It did just what you said it would do and the clothes were so nice and white with all that hard rubbing left off," writes Mrs. Sarah Goodale, Preston, Texas. The Magic Stick is not a soap nor a washing powder. Sold by grocers and druggists, three 10c sticks for 25c, or by mail from A. B. Richards Medicine Co., Sherman, Texas.

Though the straight and narrow path may be all to the good, you'll find the biggest crowd trotting down the great white boulevard.

Why Not Publish It.

When you want a fact to become generally known, the right way is to publish it. Mrs. Joseph Kallans, Peru, Ind., was troubled with belching, sour stomach and frequent headaches. She writes, "I feel it my duty to tell others what Chamberlain's Tablets have done for me. They have helped my digestion and regulated my bowels. Since using them I have been entirely well." For sale by All Dealers.

A magazine writer says: "To love a widow is a liberal education for any man." Yes, but a little learning is a dangerous thing.

Cure Old Sores, Other Remedies Won't Cure. The worst case, no matter of how long standing, are cured by the wonderful, old reliable Dr. Foster's Antiseptic Healing Ointment. It relieves Pain and Heals at the same time. 25c, 50c, $1.00.

LOSES FEET AND WATCH.

Surgeons Cut Off First and Thief Takes the Other.

Philadelphia.—While surgeons of a hospital in this city were amputating the foot of John Guest, who was run over by a train at Bangor, Pa., his gold watch was stolen from his pocket. When he recovered consciousness from the anæsthetic he missed the time-piece, and the loss caused a hurried search, but nothing could be found to explain the loss.

Suspicion fell on Paul Reiker, an orderly at the institution. He was arrested, confessed and was held for trial. This led to the discovery that another patient, Frank Price, was robbed of a diamond stickpin while under the influence of ether in the surgical ward, and Reiker also confessed that theft.

What Would You Do?

There are many times when one man questions another's actions and motives. Men act differently under different circumstances. The question is, what would you do right now if you had a severe cold? Could you do better than to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy? It is highly recommended by people who have used it for years and know its value. Mrs. O. E. Sargent, Peru, Ind., says, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is worth its weight in gold and I take pleasure in recommending it." For sale by All Dealers.

A man gets very little exercise when he goes for a walk with his wife on a street where dry goods and milliners' show windows abound.

The Magic Washing Stick.

"All glory to the Magic Washing Stick—my clothes were as white as snow," writes Mrs. Sallie Cummings, Marquez, Texas. Not a soap nor a washing powder but a peculiar article which makes dirty clothes clean and beautiful without a bit of rubbing. Sold by grocers and druggists, three 10c sticks for 25c, or by mail from A. B. Richards Medicine Co., Sherman, Texas.

Some marriages may be a failure, but we have noticed that most widows and widowers are anxious to try again.

Children that are pale, sickly and peevish, with dark rings under the eyes, finicky appetite, and who appear to get no nourishment from the food they eat are surely suffering from worms. Give them White's Cream Vermifuge and note the wonderful improvement. They soon take on flesh and are rosy, active and cheerful. Price 25c per bottle. Sold by W. H. Windrow.

More Than Enough is Too Much.

To maintain health, a mature man or woman needs just enough food to repair the waste and supply energy and body heat. The habitual consumption of more food than is necessary for these purposes is the prime cause of stomach troubles, rheumatism and disorders of the kidneys. If troubled with indigestion, revise your diet, let reason and not appetite control and take a few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets and you will soon be all right again. For sale by All Dealers.

In Arcadia.

Sentimental Lady: "Gentle shepherd, where is your pipe?" Shepherd (sheepishly): "In the shanty, marm. I'm out of baccy." —October Lippincott's.

The Magic Washing Stick.

"I cannot speak highly enough in praise of the Magic Washing Stick. It saves half the labor in washing. Makes the clothes sweet, clean and white as snow without the use of rub-board," writes Mrs. R. "NATIONAL HERO SERIES" NO. 10

Kossuth—Greatest of Hungarians
THIS noble lover of Liberty was to his beloved Hungary what Patrick Henry was to American Independence. "Give me Liberty or give me death" meant to Kossuth all that made life worth the living. He lived for ninety-two years, and his long and honorable career was devoted solely to secure for Hungary National Independence. For it he suffered imprisonment and exile. For it he worked as few men have ever worked. His fiery soul was expressed in his writing, and his impassioned oratory thundered across the two continents. All the world read and listened to this high-souled Hungarian Patriot. When exiled our government sent the U.S. Steamer Mississippi to Turkey and brought him to our shores as the guest of the Nation. To-day we have millions of Hungarian citizens, each one a lover of Personal Liberty. To secure it they sought our shores, and to a man they will fight to the death to keep forever alive the spirit and letter of our immortal Declaration of Independence. They make good citizens, and like Kossuth detest prohibitory enactments which make the many suffer for the faults of the very few. For centuries Hungarians have as a nation been moderate users of barley brews and light wines. Their votes are always registered against any legislation which proposes to regulate human diet by law. "Thou shalt NOT eat this—thou shalt NOT drink that"—to those of brave Hungarian blood is insufferable tyranny. For 57 years Anheuser-Busch have been proud to serve their Hungarian patrons. They have helped to make the sales of their great brand Budweiser exceed those of any other beer by millions of bottles. Seven thousand, five hundred people are daily required to keep pace with the public demand for Budweiser.

BASEBALL

The Federal league follows the National league plan of working off post-ponements. Double headers, unless scheduled originally, are barred in all first series between the different clubs.
The club president at whose grounds
a postponement or a tie game occurs selects the date on which it will be decided.

Jim Shaw, the Washington pitcher, is a giant physically, and the Washington fans regard him as a combination of Walter Johnson and Amos Rusie. Lack of control appears to be Shaw's only weakness.

C. Starr Mathews, travelling with the Baltimore team, declares, in the Baltimore Sun, that "crabbing" made them more trouble and caused more defeats than injuries to players and the jumping of Pitcher Frank Smith.

Pittsburgh has signed a recruit pitcher named Kuss. The latter swears he is some pitcher, but wait until he bats against one of the outfielders on Jimmy Callahan's roster—Demmit!

Henriksen, the handy man of the Red Sox, got his reputation by making a home run in the world's series three years ago and he has been feared by all the pitchers in the league ever since.

The Toronto club has turned Pitcher Ritter over to the Scranton club of the New York State league, and has secured Pitcher Palermo from the New York National league club.

The Montreal club of the International league has released Second Baseman Bill Cunningham of Schenectady. He was loaned to Birmingham the latter part of last season.

Reb Russell, the White Sox left-handed pitcher, is said to be negotiating with the Indianapolis Federals having personal reasons for wanting to live in the Hoosier capital.

Several major league clubs are angling for Alfred Schachte, star pitcher of the Clemson college team. He is famous in southern college circles because pitches with either hand.

Cincinnati has turned Pitcher Karl Adams, a Sally league recruit, over to Indianapolis. He has been claimed by the Phillies on waivers, but later the claim was released.

Connie Mack's big four doesn't know much about polo, but it's a sure bet that his quartet would bring more money on the open market than the polo "Big Four."

Jack Knight, former big-league infielder, who is playing a whale of a game for the Cleveland A. A. team, may be yanked back to the Naps by Owner Somers.

Bill James, the Boston pitcher, who worked with Schneider on the coast, says that the Reds have secured the best man out there in this big right-hander.

Jack Warhop is getting to be the regular relief artist of the New York Americans, and the little fellow is pitching fine ball every time he is sent out.

Take him for his hitting, base running, throwing and ground covering, and George Burns is pretty nearly the best outfielder in the National league.

Eddie Collins does not play as if he had any intention of quitting organized ball at the end of this season. He is out to win every game he plays in.

Bill Carrigan, the Red Sox manager, says Scott, his shortstop, is the best first-year man he ever saw and covers as much ground as Barry or Bush.

The Cuban outfielder, Jacinto Calvo, sent by Washington to Los Angeles, has been turned over to the Victoria club of the Northwestern league.

Cecil Ferguson, a right-hander, formerly of the New York Giants and Boston Nationals, has signed with the St. Louis Federal league club.

The Boston players seem to think that in the St. Louis Cardinals Huggins has the making of one of the strongest clubs in the league.

The report is out that President Jim Gaffney of the Boston Braves is quite willing to sell out his holdings and retire from baseball.

Garlow, Carlisle Indians' center, who made the training trip with the Red Sox, has been planted in Lewiston. He aspires to be a pitcher.

There isn't a more dangerous pinch hitter in the country than Chief Meyers, and few can drive the ball with more force.

Bill Sweeney is doing his level best to fill Johnny Evers' shoes on the Chicago team, but is having a very hard time of it.

"Our Mutual Girl" Disappears While Seeking Her Protegee

"KID JOSEPH" ABDUCTING ADA TAYLOR

Margaret did not return to her aunt's home the day she left to go down to the lower east side to look for Ada Taylor, her protegee. Her aunt surmised where the girl had gone, and she realized the danger "Our Mutual Girl" risked when she went alone in search of the girl she had twice rescued. Mrs.
Knickerbocker was not surprised when her maid brought her a note found on the window sill. The note asked Mrs. Knickerbocker to meet the writer at Broadway and Fourteenth street if she wished to learn something about the whereabouts of her niece.

Before Mrs. Knickerbocker had decided what to do about this note "Fat" Taylor, Ada's brother, arrived. He had been seeking his sister in the same locality where he had found her before, and the gangsters had set on him and beaten him severely. He appealed to Mrs. Knickerbocker for information concerning his sister and was surprised to learn of Miss Margaret's disappearance. Mrs. Knickerbocker gave him money, and he again set out on the search for his sister and also for Margaret.

In the meantime the gangsters read in the papers about the disappearance of Margaret, and they decide to extort money from Mrs. Knickerbocker. They send Ada up to see their intended victim, and she arrives while a number of detectives are questioning Mrs. Knickerbocker and her servants about Margaret's disappearance. The butler tries to get Ada to enter the house, but a gangster who had followed her up the steps knocks the butler down, grabs Ada, and she is hustled into an auto and away, with the detectives in pursuit in another auto.

The gangsters reach a ferry ahead of the detectives and, with the girl, board a ferryboat just as it leaves the slip, and the detectives are left behind.
They hire a launch and follow the ferryboat.

The gangsters, seeing they are pursued, go to the other side of the ferry and by showing a roll of money to the captain of a tugboat get him to run up close and take them off the ferryboat. They thus elude the detectives and return to the east side.

The mysterious note received by Mrs. Knickerbocker proves to be from a society burglar, who manages through the note and his butler to make the acquaintance of Mrs. Knickerbocker, and he agrees to help her find her niece.
He then sends word to the gangsters to "lay off the job" and let him get what he can out of the wealthy Mrs. Knickerbocker.

All of the thrilling incidents mentioned here may be seen by the public on or after June 1 in the coming chapter of "Our Mutual Girl" fifty-two reel serial.

Taxation as to Individuals and Corporations

ANNUAL TAXES ALL PURPOSES $30,000,000.

The power to tax is the power to build or destroy. To maintain equal rights of property is as important a function in government as to preserve the rights of individuals. The cut shown above indicates the amount of state tax assessed against an investment of $10,000 on the lines of industry shown in the subdivision of the circle. There are many inequalities in assessment between counties.

Taxation will be discussed by the Texas Welfare Commission.
S. A. Lindsey of Tyler is chairman of the sub-committee that will deal with this subject.

Brando Is Unbroken.
Brando means simply an unbroken horse, be it thoroughbred or mongrel.
Meet them a bad, sorry breed as compared to old English thoroughbreds and dray stocks. Let us think not for the wild horses themselves were thoroughbred Spanish and Arabian once upon a time.

Curiosity of History.
A lady one day remarked to Bulwer
Lytton how odd it was that a dove (Latin, columba) should have been sent out to find the Old World, and Columbus (Columbe) should have found the new.

"Yes," agreed the novelist; "but more curious still is the fact that one came from Noah and the other from Venice!"

Papa Was to Economize.
Small Boy (handing druggist a half dollar)—"Five five-cent cigars, and give me the change." Druggist—"But, Bob, your father always smokes ten-cent cigars." Small Boy—"Well, he isn't going to this time."—Life.

How They Get Them.
Miss Gotrox was wearing a diamond spangle around her neck. "What is that?" asked the young man.
"That?" she replied, "oh, that's only a dog tag." "A dog tag? Why do you call it that?" The cynic spoke up. "That's how they get 'em," he explained.

When you feel dull, out of sorts, discouraged, half sick and everything seems to be going wrong, you can blame it on your liver. It is torpid. You need

HERBINE

A Medicine of Power in All Liver Disorders.

When the liver is torpid, it throws impurities into the system, which hamper every organ in the body. The result is that functional processes are not properly carried on. Impurities get into the blood, the stomach is bilious, the kidneys weak and the bowels irregular—generally constipated. Herbine cleans out all these impurities, opens up the obstructed channels, strengthens the torpid liver, cleanses the blood, purifies and regulates the bowels. After the system has been thus overhauled, there is an immediate improvement. Appetite returns, digestion is good, the spirits rise, the mind clears of gloomy forebodings and everything looks bright and cheerful, which means, sound, healthy conditions everywhere in the body.

NEW TALES THAT ARE TOLD

When Underwood Won.

When Oscar Underwood, Democratic leader of the house of representatives was a very young lawyer without experience of any sort he appeared in his first case in Birmingham, Ala., with Judge Bricknell, who had been chief justice of the state supreme court, as opposing counsel.

Bricknell, famous for his hammer and tongs method of abusing and ridiculing young attorneys, put the youthful Underwood on the grill and roasted him to a rich dark brown. Underwood took all the abuse, sarcasm and irony without a murmur, and at last his time came. Addressing the court, he called attention to a decision of the supreme court which he proceeded to read.

"I think this decision is sound," he said, "and I ask a verdict for my client on the strength of it. It was handed down by that distinguished expounder of the law, Judge Bricknell, when he was chief justice."

Underwood won—New York Tribune.

TRAINING A MODERN DEMOSTHENES.

A Statesman's Early Schooling In the Art of Oratory.

There is an almost unknown circumstance in the life history of Speaker Champ Clark that deserves to rank with the ever green story of Demosthenes, who cultivated clear speech with a mouthful of pebbles. Speaker Clark bears the reputation of having the clearest enunciation in the house of representatives and of being the most easily understood speaker in that body.

"When I was a boy in Kentucky," said the speaker in explanation of his clear diction, "my father determined to train me to talk without mumbling or mumbling my words, so he cut a little piece of wood, just long enough to stand endwise between my teeth when my jaws were well opened. Then, with that impediment to the movement of my lips, I was required to practice articulation. The treatment was heroic, but it taught me plain speaking."—Washington Star.

A Story and a Moral.

Max Kauffman, secretary to Health Commissioner Starkloff, tells a story with a moral.

The story: "A man drove a stake wagon through the archway into the inner court at the city hall. It was heavily loaded. The top of the wagon on bed barely cleared. The wagon was unloaded and the man tried to drive out. The wagon bed would not clear. The rebound of the springs made it too high. He was a prisoner and had to take the wagon bed off before he could drive out."

And the moral: "A man with a load on can get by, but he can't come back."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Not Yet Answered.

Mayor Gaynor, discussing at a Brooklyn dinner party the efficacy of prayer, smiled and said:

"There are some people who are too impatient and cynical over the matter of prayer. They are like little Tommy."

"Pa," said little Tommy, "you know Jim and Horace? Well, pa, Jim and Horace say their prayers every night and ask God to make 'em good boys."

"How very nice," said the father.

"How very nice," said the father.

"But he ain't done it yet, pa," the urchin added.—Los Angeles Times.

Did He Mean It?

Senator Thomas P. Gore, the blind senator from Oklahoma, was presented to a big banquet in Washington one night as the toastmaster of the occasion. After a few opening remarks Senator Gore said blandly:

"Now, friends, I do not intend to bore you with a speech, but I will introduce a man who will."

Whereupon he introduced Representative Henry D. Clayton of Alabama, but the banqueters treated him kindly.

A MERE INCIDENT

By HERBERT E. HAMBLIN.

(Copyright.) "Well, Mike, an' how's the new by?" inquired the other fireman.

Mike waited to finish hauling the blue shirt over his head, and then replied:

"Oh, be hivin', the finest in the wor-ld! Father Casey was in this morn'-in', an' he says ter me, Mike Perrel," says he, "ye have the biggest an' han'somest baby on the block an' that's no lie," says he.

"I'm worried about Norah, though, she ain't a bit well," Mike continued, the happy look of the proud father giving way to the troubled one of the husband and provider.

"I don't like the way the doctor looks at her," he said. "She's not strong, poor gyur-r-l. I had a bit o' money saved up for this, but Katy got diphtheria an' that tuck it all, so now I haven't a cent; an' I'm owing a good bit around, too."

"Ah, well," he continued philosophically, as he picked up the heavy silver bar and tackled the first of his dirty fires, "it's good I have a stiddy job."

After the fires were cleaned and the fire-room washed down, Mike remarked to his mate:

"I ain't had a wink o' sleep these two nights; I'm fitter ter be home in bed today than afore these bilers, with this rotten coal; but I darsen't lose no time now for a spell."

The conversation was interrupted by the opening of the engine-room door—a bare crack. A hand and the grizzled beard of old Ferguson, the chief, protruded for a brief instant.

"Hey, ketch this!" he called in a stage whisper, as he flung his pipe into the yawning emptiness of the fire-room with a fatalistic confidence that was inspiring.

It seemed as if the entire plant always ran with clock-like smoothness and precision until the very minute the superintendent entered on his inspection tour; then the most unexpected things would happen, giving that fiery-tempered official occasion to berate all concerned. Now, Mike could hear his high-pitched voice, reading the riot act to the chief inside.

After half an hour, the tumult within having subsided, it was believed "His Nibs" had gone without bothering their department, an always hoped for, but seldom realized, experience.

Mike threw his brass-cleaning equipment in a corner and leaned against the wall. He was completely worn out. The fire-room was warm and the air heavy with evaporation from the wet floor. Almost immediately he dozed off, standing upright as he was.

Suddenly the engine-room door was flung wide open. A tall, bony, stoop-shouldered man, his face nearly hidden by a fiery red broom of a beard, stood squarely in the doorway, both hands in his overcoat pockets, glaring savagely into the fire-room.

The super's eyes at once nailed the sleeping man. Not a facial quiver betrayed his intentions. Slowly, deliberately, he entered the fire-room and traversed its length, scanning every detail with a quick, comprehensive glance.

A long, bony finger shot out from the superintendent's side and bored a hole between Mike's ribs. The big fireman's eyes came open slowly, and, to a disinterested spectator, the transformation that passed over his features would have appeared comical.

"Hey, how long have you been here?"

"S-o-r-r-r!" asked bewildered Mike.

"How long have you worked here?"

"Goin' on eight years, s-o-r-r-r."

"What time do you get relieved?"

"At twelve o'clock, s-o-r-r-r."

"All right; when you go out, you stay out, do you hear?"

"Yis, s-o-r-r-r."

As the superintendent flitted away to deal to Darby and the coal passer their respective doses of venom, it suddenly dawned upon Mike that he was discharged. The spirit of murder welled up in his heart, but he restrained it. Nobody had ever accomplished anything by an appeal to his Nibs, except to add to that amiable gentleman's gratification—but Mike's need was desperate.

For the sake of Norah and the baby, he would humble himself. Choking back the desire to kill, he feigned humility and approached the tyrant.

"Av ye please, s-o-r-r-r, Mr.—"

"Get out—get out—I don't want any talk from you; your steam is two pounds low now."

"But, s-o-r-r-r, I only wanted ter ax ye—"

"Shut up—shut up, I tell ye—get away from me; ye're drunk."

Having thus glibly pronounced the doom of a family, His Nibs hastened to the office of the chief fireman, his appetite for blood merely whetted.

As Mike packed up the traps that had accumulated in his closet during his more than seven years' incumbency, he kept muttering to himself: "An' me wid only wan day's pay alrined."

When the relief came in at noon, Billy Doyle slapped him on the shoulder.

"Hello, Mike, what ye lookin' so blue about? Have His Nibs been troo?"

As Mike picked up his bundle and shambled toward the door, he replied wearily: "He have."

ORDERS GOT MIXED

"Peter, dear," remarked pretty Mrs. Skidmore at breakfast, "we really must have some new paper on the dining room at once. This is awfully shabby—look at it!"

"I guess you're right," her husband admitted. "Well, why don't you go to town today and order some? Business is pretty good this season, and I guess we can afford it all right."

"I would," she mused, "only I've got a busy week ahead, with the dress-maker coming and all, and the luncheon here on Saturday, and it takes so much time, and the train service is so bad, excepting in the early morning and the evening. Can't I order it, dear—slip off on the way to luncheon, you know, or something? Belfield's store is so near you, we're old customers of theirs."

"Very well; I'll do my best," he capitulated without enthusiasm, adding firmly, "But it's to be understood that if I choose the paper it stays, I don't want any huffy workmen making extra trips this time."

"Oh, of course!" she cooed, delighted that she had won her point so easily. "I promise to accept whatever you send out. And thank you so much, dear."

A few moments later he left the house. "If I'm not back tonight," he said in parting, "you'll know that I had to run over to New York. As I told you, Dodd will wire me about the deal goes, and if I'm needed I'll have to stay overnight to get the documents into shape. I'll try to be definitely late this afternoon, but I won't be afraid with Nora here, about that wallpaper."

"Just slip in the order if you see time," she called after him. Evidently he did so, for two paperhangers, completely equipped, arrived early the afternoon. Mrs. Skidmore had the dining room ready, in anticipation of their coming, but just as she was about to inspect a roll of the paper Nora nounced a caller, and she spent an hour with garrulous old Mrs. Hapgood, whose numerous Nibs furnished material for conversation. A brusque pling of paste brushes across the wall soon proclaimed that the men were work; but she quelled a slight uneasiness with the thought that Peter's quiet taste, plus the esthetic idea which she had drilled into him, was not let him go far wrong. As the caller followed fast, and then a persistent book agent, so that it was long time before she was free to inspect the room. Three walls were completed when she stepped in—stood aghast! All over her dimly patterned "landscape" paper, its mossy trees and starting flowers of blue and green vivid against an unspeakable buff sky! She had seen one like it a window once, and had shuddered, passing. And to think that Peter betrayed his trust in this way! A felt a wild desire to stop the men, recalled her promise to take what Peter might send.

There was no trace of excitement in her manner when her husband came home from New York late that evening. He had dined on the train, they did not go to the chamber horrors that night. She purposely avoided speaking of the dinner, and he forgot it until, as the door on their way upstairs, asked, casually, whether the men had come, and how she liked the paper.

"Yes, they came," she answered briskly, padding, with that brittle frosty edge to her tone, "the paper isn't exactly what I should have chosen, but of course if you like it—Evidently, thought Peter, he did not please her; but he was tired and sleepy, and felt grateful her because she was clearly dropping the subject for the night. Breathless was a little late the next morning, he hurried into the dining room as what in advance of his wife. The paper was ready for him, and she him fairly between the eyes. He most staggered with the suddenness the blow.

"Mabel!" he gasped, turning to wife with horror-stricken face. "Paper! How—when—why did I choose such a—"

"Peter Skidmore!" she interrupted, anger and amazement struggling mastery. "Are you crazy? Don't remember choosing and sending yourself?"

"I didn't!" he asserted, indignantly. "I never saw it before! Wait, though I did see it at Belfield's, with a florid, diamond-and-peroxide lady fling over it. They've mixed the order somehow, Mabel—it must be so. Why, mine was a beauty; just the way you like—ivory, with a hint of blue. But, oh, Mabel, to think you'd be so capable of unloading a night like that on my innocent wife! I thought, that circumstantial evidence was against me. But you must have thought I was drunk, Mabel!"

"Not quite that!" she was beginning to smile faintly; "I didn't know what to think." They sat down, she glanced at the mail which she had just brought in. "Here's a whole thing, and apologizing in best style!" she exclaimed, passing letter to him. "It was a mix-up of orders, just as you said, by a green man, and he promises to set it all in a day or two. I might have known you wouldn't choose it—and, oh, ter, I'm sorry I was cross!"

"But you weren't!" he reminded much impressed; "and, consider what you thought I'd done—why, dear, I think you acted like a white angel!"—Buffalo Express.
